1.3 Acquire desirable values, and

1.4 Conceive realistic plans for his/her future life after leaving school.

2. The Guidance Services available to students include the following:

2.1 Orientation – This provides students information on the historical background of the university, school policies, school rules and regulations, grading system, academic and non-academic scholarships, cultural affairs, student organizations, and other basic information.

2.2 Information – This service makes available to students various up-to-date, relevant information about the college, other institutions of higher learning, careers in the world of work, as well as information relative to one's socio-personal development. Any of the Guidance staff shall welcome any student who may want to avail of information materials in the Guidance Office or in their collection.

2.3 Counseling – This service is the heart of Guidance Services. Counseling aims at helping each student clarify his conflicts, and minimize or solve the problems that block his development as a person. It also assists him in discovering his potential, defining his feelings, and clarifying his motives. Through counseling, students may be expected to understand and accept themselves and seek to grow into better persons who can think independently, make wise decisions, and act responsibly.

Students may avail of the counseling service following the schedule (posted outside the counseling room) for counseling, by making an appointment with a counselor, or by dropping in immediately whenever there is a need for the service and a counselor is available, thru self-referral. Referrals may also be made by any university instructors/professors.

2.4 Peer Counseling – Students trained in certain counseling skills (called Peer Counselors) assist fellow students with problems. The Peer Counselors also serve as the bridge between the counselor and students who need help in resolving academic, personal, and social adjustment problems.

To render optimal service to fellow students, peer counselors may hold small group sessions or meetings to give help so as to attract students to avail of their services.

Peer counselors are always available every day because they follow a daily schedule (posted outside the Guidance Office).

2.5 Testing – This service assists students in discovering their mental capacities, personality needs, study habits and attitudes, interests and aptitudes. The accurate interpretation of test results and the appropriate communication of the same will enable students to make realistic plans about their college and future life.

Standardized tests may be administered for instructional purposes (as requested by the Deans or other units), and the test administration will be scheduled by course and year-level. However, individual or small groups of students may avail of the services for diagnostic or counseling purposes by completing a request form and submitting the same to the Guidance Services Office.

Test results interpretation may be completed as scheduled by the psychometrician in charge. A student who may need a certification of his test result issued must apply personally at the Guidance Office. He will be required to pay the P5.00 certification fee for the certificate to bear the university's official seal.

2.6 Placement and Follow-up Service – This service includes determining or identifying prospective academic scholars and following up with students on probation. This also attends to information and orientation on job opportunities available to graduating and non-graduating students.

4. GRADING SYSTEM

4.1 Numerical Rating and Qualitative Description

All students must meet the academic standards set by the University in its quality education program by obtaining at least 2.5 (2.0 for the College of Education) grade point average at the close of each semester.

Quality Marks	Numerical Rating
Excellent	1.0 (100 – 95)
Very Good	1.1 – 1.5 (94 – 90)
Good	1.6 – 2.5 (89 – 80)
Fair	2.6 – 3.0 (79 – 75)
Conditional	4.0 (74 – below)
Failure	5.0 student must repeat the course
INC	course not completed at the end of term, late completion authorized
DRP	dropped
NA	not attending

Numerical points are used in computing GPA. The MIS Unit gives students the grade reports at the onset of the succeeding semester. The University also provides free online checking of grade reports in the local area network.

A grade of 3.0 is the minimum acceptable passing grade in all courses. However, the College of Education requires at least a GPA of 2.0 for a student to qualify for second year of residence or specialization/major.

A conditional grade of 4.0 is given to a student who has not reached the passing score for requirements (especially major exams) set by the instructor/professor. Any student who receives such a grade is required to take a removal examination scheduled just after classes become regular in the semester immediately following the semester when the "condition" mark was received. If the student passes the removal examination, the grade is changed to 3.0 otherwise it is changed to 5.0 or Failure.

A grade of "INC" indicates the student has not completed the course requirements. For an "INC" to be converted to the appropriate grade, the student must complete all requirements within two (2) semesters succeeding the time the course was taken. Otherwise, one gets an automatic 5.0 or Failure.

A special fee is charged when an undergraduate/graduate student removes a 4.0 or completes an"INC." Removal/Completion Forms are available at the Registrar's Office.

The letters "DRP" show that the student has dropped a course or was dropped by the instructor/professor after incurring more than seven (7) unexcused absences.

The college dean warns students whose records indicate poor overall standing as evidenced by several deficiencies in grades. The student will be put on "On Probation" status. Probationary students are expected to improve substantially during the following semester while on academic warning; otherwise they will be denied enrollment in the subsequent terms.

4.2 Bases of Grading

The Coordinator shall remind the student that divulging the results with anybody will be at his own risk; and that if possible, the information should remain in the confines of their house.

4. The parent, the RDT Coordinator and the student shall then prepare for a case conference to discuss issues of drug use and possible dependency.

Venue should have a semblance of privacy (preferably in a room, with an office table where group discussions and individual sessions can be done).

Whichever is more convenient for the student and parent, venue could be as follows:

- Regional Office or hospital of the DOH

6.4. Options for treatment should be presented to the parent and student;

6.5. If a student (below 18 years of age) is found to be a drug dependent, the school authority shall refer him/her to the Department of Social Welfare and Development (DSWD) or a local social worker for counseling and other intervention;

6.6. The parent and the student may choose to enroll the student in a private rehabilitation center or program or opt to avail of the rehabilitation services of the government through a DOH-accredited facility.

- If child opts for government service, the DOH treatment and rehabilitation centers nearest to the area can provide services;

LEYTE NORMAL UNIVERSITY HYMN

Music: Dr. Virginio V. Fuentes

Lyrics: Mrs. Rosario P. Isiderio

Beloved Leyte Normal
We sing thee hymns of praise
Loyalty and honor
To thy name embrace
Thy teachings we shall treasure
Thy words of wisdom true
So precious beyond measure
To guide our whole life through
As we sail to voyage
Life's uncertain sea
The haven of thy harbor safe
There we shall be
Beloved Leyte Normal
Thy name we shall adore
Thine honor ever shining
We'll keep forevermore.

Leyte Normal University.
